

Identification of Trusted Relationships in Electronic Documents

Abstract

The invention relates to the fields of computer program security, user access control, user interface methods, and online authentication, and more specifically to the field of authentication and private key management.